

NOTES ON AUTHORS

PETER BUSH is Minister of the Westwood Presbyterian Church in Winnipeg and an independent scholar. He did research for the Truth and Reconciliation Commission on the question: “How did the church get to sorry?” He has presented apologies on behalf of the Presbyterian Church at Residential School commemorative events. E-mail: peterwwpres@mymts.net.

JOHN DERKSEN is Associate Professor of Conflict Resolution Studies at Menno Simons College, a College of Canadian Mennonite University affiliated with the University of Winnipeg. He is also Editor of Peace Research: The Canadian Journal of Peace and Conflict Studies. E-mail: j.derksen@uwinnipeg.ca.

SUSAN FUNK, foster parent of high-risk Indigenous youth and earth activist for fourteen years, holds a double honours BA in Psychology and Sociology with a minor in Native Studies. She is completing an MA in Peace and Conflict Studies at the University of Manitoba. E-mail: umfunksr@myumanitoba.ca.

NEIL FUNK-UNRAU is Associate Professor of Conflict Resolution Studies and Associate Dean at Menno Simons College, a college of Canadian Mennonite University affiliated with the University of Winnipeg. He is also Co-Editor of Peace Research: The Canadian Journal of Peace and Conflict Studies. He has published articles and book chapters on the history of Canadian indigenous relations and on the role of public apologies in renegotiating social relationships. E-mail: n.funk-unrau@uwinnipeg.ca.

PETER GENGER is a scholar and practitioner in interreligious dialogue and peacemaking. He holds an MEd in Inter-religious Dialogue (Boston College) and an MA in Peace and Conflict Studies (PACS), and is pursuing a PhD in PACS at the University of Manitoba. His areas of research include African indigenous peacemaking, decolonization as peacemaking, conflict

PEACE RESEARCH
The Canadian Journal of Peace and Conflict Studies
Volume 47, Numbers 1-2 (2015): 206-208
©2015 Peace Research

transformation, and restorative justice. E-mail: gengerp@myumanitoba.ca.

CHRISTOPHER HRYNKOW is an Associate Professor in the Department of Religion and Culture at St. Thomas More College, University of Saskatchewan. He teaches courses in Religious Studies, Social Justice and the Common Good, and Catholic Studies. Hrynkow serves as the Graduate Chair for Religion and Culture at the University of Saskatchewan. E-mail: chrynkow@stmcollege.ca.

BILL JANZEN of Ottawa, ON, now retired, was the director of the MCC Ottawa Office for thirty-four years. He has lived in the Congo and in Egypt and has travelled widely. He holds a PhD in Political Science and Master's degrees in International Affairs and in Religious Studies. E-mail: janzenw@sympatico.ca.

MERLE LEFKOFF is an educator, activist, and political scientist using applied complexity science to transform diplomacy and peacemaking. She led ethnic peacebuilding initiatives in the Balkans during the war, and assisted negotiations in Central America, Northern Ireland, and the Middle East. Lefkoff is President and Co-Founder of the Center for Emergent Diplomacy. E-mail: merlelefkoff@gmail.com.

MICHELE LEMONIUS, educator and peace activist, has worked with “marginalized” groups for fifteen years. She holds an MA in Organizational Conflict Management from Royal Roads University and an MA in Adult Education from St. Francis Xavier University, and is currently completing a PhD in Peace and Conflict Studies at the University of Manitoba. E-mail: lemonium@myumanitoba.ca.

KAREN MAGRO, PHD, is an Associate Professor of English language arts and applied psychology at the Faculty of Education, University of Winnipeg. Her teaching, research, and writing interests are in creativity, adult learning, social justice and literacy learning, newcomer and refugee studies, transformative learning theory, and the psychology of teaching and learning. E-mail: k.magro@uwinnipeg.ca.

LAURA E. REIMER, PHD, is an Assistant Professor at the University of Winnipeg and Research Fellow with the Arthur V. Mauro Centre for Peace and Justice, University of Manitoba. Her research explores conflict and public policy. Her book publications include Transformative Change: An Introduction to Peace and Conflict Studies (Rowman and Littlefield, 2015).

E-mail: l.reimer@uwinnipeg.ca.

JAY ROTHMAN, PHD, is a scholar and a practitioner of creative conflict engagement. He was trained in international relations and group dynamics, and focuses on issues of intergroup identity-based conflict and cooperation and Action Evaluation. He is Associate Professor of Conflict Management, Resolution and Negotiation at Bar Ilan University, and President of the ARIA Group, Inc. (www.ariagroup.com). He has authored dozens of journal articles about conflict resolution and participatory evaluation, and four books, including From Identity-Based Conflict to Identity-Based Cooperation (Springer, 2012). E-mail: jay.rothman@biu.ac.il.

JESSICA SENEHI, PHD, is an Associate Professor in the Program on Peace and Conflict Studies, offered by the Faculty of Graduate Studies, and housed in the Arthur V. Mauro Centre for Peace and Justice at St. Paul's College, at the University of Manitoba. A focus of her work is storytelling for peace. E-mail: Jessica.Senehi@umanitoba.ca.

ANNA SNYDER is Associate Professor of Conflict Resolution Studies at Menno Simons College, a college of Canadian Mennonite University affiliated with the University of Winnipeg. She is also Co-editor of Peace Research: The Canadian Journal of Peace and Conflict Studies. E-mail: a.snyder@uwinnipeg.ca.

CHRISTINA SZURLEJ, PHD, is an Assistant Professor in the Human Rights Program at St. Thomas University and Director of the Atlantic Human Rights Centre. She has served higher education institutions in teaching, research, and/or administrative capacities at the University of Winnipeg, Canadian Mennonite University, Middlesex University, the University of Essex, and the National University of Ireland, Galway. Email: cszurlej@stu.ca.