

NOTES ON AUTHORS

---

BOSEDE AWODOLA, PhD, works for the Institute for Peace and Conflict Resolution (IPCR), Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Nigeria as an Associate Research Professor. She has worked and published extensively in the areas of peacebuilding and conflict management. Her research interests centre on women, children, and armed conflicts, post-conflict rehabilitation and reintegration and building capacities for peacebuilding. She the pioneer Director of the National Peace Academy, which is the capacity building Directorate of the IPCR. E-Mail: awodola@ipcr.gov.ng

NADINE BARTLETT is Assistant Professor in Educational Administration, Foundations and Psychology in the Faculty of Education at University of Manitoba receiving her PhD in Education from University of Manitoba. Scholarly interests include structural equity, inclusion, special education, the social construction of disAbility, inter-sectoral collaboration and community mobilization. She has received funding for her research from the University of Manitoba Centre for Human Rights Research and SSHRC. E-Mail: nadine.bartlett@umanitoba.ca

AARÓN GRAGEDA BUSTAMANTE obtained a PhD in History from Witten-Herdecke University. He is a professor and a researcher at the University of Sonora, Mexico, in the Department of History and Anthropology, and the Posgrado Integral en Ciencias Sociales (PICS). Bustamente founded the following programs: the National System of Researchers Level I

(CONACyT) of which he is currently a member; the Max Planck for Ibero-American Legal History Institute; and the Red de Estudios Históricos sobre el Noroeste de México (REHNOM) network. E-Mail: agrageda@sociales.uson.mx

ARACELY RIVERA COHEN has a PhD in Social Sciences from University of Sonora, Mexico. He is a member of the YNSC. He is a candidate of the National System of Researchers (CONACyT) and postdoctoral fellow of CONACyT at the Binational Migration Institute (BMI) of the Department of Mexican American Studies (MAS, University of Arizona) and the Posgrado Integral en Ciencias Sociales (PICS, University of Sonora). E-Mail: ariveracohen@email.arizona.edu

KELLY GORKOFF is Associate Professor and Chair of UWinnipeg Criminal Justice Department receiving her PhD in Sociology from CarletonU. Scholarly interests include social theory, critical political economy, regulatory practices, public inquiries, specialized courts, and community mobilization. She has been part of national research teams funded by Status of Women Canada, Department of Justice, Manitoba Law Foundation, SSHRC, and CIHR. E-Mail: k.gorkoff@uwinnipeg.ca

RICHARD HARMSTON as worked with and for internationally-focused civil society organizations for more than 50 years, primarily in the field of international development and North-South cooperation. He has specialized in organizational development, NGO-government relations, inter-organizational cooperation, and strengthening civil society, particularly on themes of development, peace, and governance. He directed the International Student Movement for the United Nations (Geneva), created and managed the Public Participation Program in the Canadian International Development Agency (Ottawa), and was Executive Director respectively of the Canadian Council for International Cooperation and South Asia Partnership Canada. He was on the founding board of directors of the North South Institute, the Group of 78, the Canadian Committee for UNIFEM, and the Civilian Peace Service Canada. He is retired in Ottawa, Canada, and continues engagement with the Group of 78 and CPSC. Email: richardharmston@gmail.com

REBECA HERINGER is a PhD candidate in the Faculty of Education at University of Manitoba and a sessional instructor at University of Winnipeg. Her scholarly interests include peace and conflict studies, as well as philosophy of education, well-being and well-becoming, anti-racist education, anti-oppressive research methodologies, psychoanalysis and education, hermeneutic phenomenology, community mobilization, and internationalization of higher education. E-Mail: heringer@myumanitoba.ca

ERICH SCHELLHAMMER, recently retired from Royal Roads University, Victoria, Canada after a long career in justice studies. His research interest developed from finding a philosophical justification for the merits of cultural diversity to a phenomenological grounding of human rights in human ontology to embracing recent leadership studies to identify a new leadership category, which is peace leadership. His latest academic interest is in combining modern leadership studies with peace and conflict studies to formulate a framework for peace leadership. He has been the inaugural chair of the Peace Leadership Affinity Group of the International Leadership Association and has published numerous articles on peace leadership. Erich lives in Canada and in Germany. E-Mail: Erich.Schellhammer@RoyalRoads.ca