

NOTES ON AUTHOR

KARLO AGUILAR is an MA student in the Faculty of Education at the University of Winnipeg. Email: kfaguilar@live.com.

SEAN BYRNE is cofounding Director of the Arthur V. Mauro Institute for Peace and Justice at St. Paul's College, University of Manitoba, and cofounder of the Peace and Conflict Studies PhD and Joint MA Programs. He has won several awards for his extensive teaching, writing, and outreach, including the 2017 University of Manitoba's Excellence in Graduate Student Mentorship Award. His research interests are critical and emancipatory peacebuilding. Email: sean.byrne@umanitoba.ca.

YVANNE DANDAN CABALLERO works as the Co-operative Education Administrator at the Asper School of Business, University of Manitoba, and supports the planning, development, and implementation of the co-op program. The program is accredited by Co-operative Education and Work-Integrated Learning Canada and averages 300 students per year. Email: yvannedandan@gmail.com.

ANUJ GURUNG is Gladdys E. Muir Assistant Professor of Peace Studies at Manchester University. His research examines refugee integration, immigrant experience and identities, community-based conflict resolution, and peacebuilding. His published work includes articles in Peace and Conflict Studies and International Area Studies Review, and a chapter in The Companion to Peace and Conflict Studies. His immigration- and development-based engagements include work with UNHCR, International Institute of Akron, and North Hill Community Development Corporation in Ohio.

Email: agurung@manchester.edu.

CHRISTOPHER HRYNKOW is Professor in Religion and Culture at St. Thomas More College, University of Saskatchewan. There he serves as Co-Director of the Irene and Doug Schmeiser Centre for Faith, Reason, Peace, and Justice. Additionally, Hrynkow is Department Head and Program Chair in Religion and Culture for the University of Saskatchewan and teaches in the new Peace Studies Certificate Program, the first post-secondary peace studies program in the province. Email: chrynkow@stmcollege.ca.

PERLA JAVATE is President of the Philippine Heritage Council of Manitoba. Her work is grounded in community engagement and in preserving and promoting Philippine culture. Due to her efforts, the Province of Manitoba declared the week of 12 June as Philippine Heritage week. Email: perlajavate@gmail.com.

DURGESH KASBEKAR is an independent researcher and practitioner, and a member of the Executive Committee of the Religion and International Relations section of the International Studies Association (ISA), Connecticut. His research interests are Eastern religions in international relations. He was awarded the Royal Roads University's Chancellor's Award for the highest academic achievement among all doctoral candidates graduating in 2017. A practising Buddhist, he is a member of the International Association of Shin Buddhist Studies (IASBS). Email: durgeshkasbekar@gmail.com.

OBASESAM OKOI is Assistant Professor of Justice and Peace Studies at the University of St. Thomas, Minnesota, and Associate Editor of the journal, African Security. His research examines armed insurgency and the challenges of post-conflict peacebuilding in Africa. Okoi is the author of Punctuated Peace in Nigeria's Oil Region: Oil Insurgency and the Challenges of Post-Conflict Peacebuilding and has published in reputable journals such as Conflict Resolution Quarterly, African Security, World Development, International Journal on World Peace, and Peace Review: A Journal of Social Justice. Email: ookoi@stthomas.edu.

IREOLUWATOMI OLOKE earned a PhD in the Peace and Conflict Studies (PACS) program at the University of Manitoba. She holds a bachelor's degree in international relations and diplomacy from Afe Babalola University and a master's degree in political studies from the University of Manitoba. Email: olokei@myumanitoba.ca.

LASHA TCHANTOURIDZÉ is Professor and Director of the graduate programs in Diplomacy and International Relations, Norwich University—the Military College of Vermont. He is also a Davis Center Associate at Harvard University; a Research Fellow at the Center for Defence and Security Studies at University of Manitoba; and Advisory Board Member of the Peace and War Center at Norwich University. Email: ltchanto@norwich.edu.

ZULFIYA TURSUNOVA is Associate Professor and Chairperson in the Department of Peace and Conflict Studies at Guilford College, NC, where she serves as one of the leading experts on community-based peacebuilding practices. Her areas of research include community economic and social development, food sovereignty, health justice, immigrant family caregiving in transnational contexts, immigration, borders and belonging, community-based peacebuilding, transitional and restorative justice, sanctuary movements, and peace education. As a peace scholar, she has conducted research in Canada, the United States, Central Asia, and Europe. As a Women, Peace, and Security Officer at the Association of World Citizens (consultative status with ECOSOC, the UN), Tursunova provides gender-responsive peacebuilding strategies to support UN Security Council Resolutions 1325 and 1889. Tursunova has facilitated workshops for international development practitioners, political, religious, and community leaders, and non-profit leaders from forty-five countries transitioning to democracy on topics such as diversity and inclusion, women's leadership, food justice, community-based peacebuilding, transitional justice, and human rights.

As a peace practitioner, she has worked in Central Asia, Austria, Germany, Canada, and the United States. Email: tursunovaz@guilford.edu.

GALYM ZHUSSIPBEK is an independent scholar based in Almaty and a faculty member at Suleyman Demirel atindagi Universitet. He has a PhD in political science from Ankara University. Zhussipbek was a fellow at the Rethink Institute, Washington, DC (2013–16) and a consultant to the Equal Rights Trust, UK. In recent years he has been engaged in research projects related to children's rights, women's rights, neoliberal capitalism, and building inclusive institutions. Email: galym.zhussipbek@gmail.com; asym22@yahoo.com.